FROM THE CANTOR

“And the Inductees Are...”

So began the front page of the New York Times Sports Section in a recent January issue. You probably know that the remainder of the page was left mostly blank, reflecting the fact that for 2013 there would be no entering class into the Baseball Hall of Fame. The Times’ editors used the blank space to make a powerful statement about the unfortunate circumstances of recent years involving the star players of Major League Baseball.

Some have said that The Times was unnecessarily wasting valuable space, while others applauded their creativity and daring. Personally, had I had the job of editing The Times, I’m not sure I would have done the same, although, generally speaking, I am a very big fan of blank space. What would Beethoven’s Fifth sound like if there were no spaces between the quarter, eighth and sixteenth notes? What would Lewandowski’s Hallelujah be without the notations of rest in all the appropriate places? And moving from the aesthetic to the sacred, what would our Torah be like without the spaces between the holy letters? The Midrash states that the Torah was written with black fire on white fire, the latter referring to the spaces between the letters. A Torah scroll is valid only if the black and the white are exactly as they should be, passed down through the Masoret, our Tradition.

Creating and maintaining blank spaces is a concept whose value applies across the broad landscape of our lives. Our minds are always working overtime, thinking about what just took place, what will take place, trying to figure out why, how, what if, and on and on. Creating some peaceful white space between all the many thoughts can be critical to maintaining sanity in a driven and harried world.

And so it is that Shabbat may be seen as the necessary white space that gives pause amidst the days of doing, creating, accomplishing and succeeding. “Six days you shall labor, but on the seventh day you shall rest.” What a gift this is, transmitted from G-d through the Torah to all of mankind! It is for us to make sure we fully appreciate, value and benefit from it.

The black fire and the white fire; the letters and the blank spaces; the doing and the resting—there cannot be one without the other. Embrace them both, and may our lives be productive, joyous and peaceful!

Bivracha,
Cantor Steven Stern

FROM THE MEN'S CLUB PRESIDENT

Sunday February 3, is the World Wide Wrap. We expect a select but enthusiastic group for this great program, even if they do not wear tefillin. And of course, when we have a Sunday (or any) program, the breakfast is always scrumptious.

I am still calling on all eligible men, if you have not sent in your dues for this fiscal year, please do so soon. Do not miss out on our Mens' Club paid-up membership men's night out. Remember, dues form the foundation for our award-winning programming.

Our project to redo the parking lot lines is on hold until the weather turns warmer and we will announce the dates we will be doing this. If you would like to join with us and help, please call either of our co-executive VP's, William (Bill) Hausler or Theo Moreines.

Watch your mail for the paid-up membership program that will be here shortly and for our calendar for the remainder of the year.

B'vrachah,

Respectfully submitted by,

TBO/BT MEN'S CLUB XIII WORLD WIDE WRAP SUNDAY FEBRUARY 3, 2013

Super Bowl Sunday is more than just a day to kick back with your friends, load up on potato chips, and watch the Big Game (and about a thousand commercials). It's also the day on which TBO/BT MEN'S CLUB will join over 240 Men's Clubs around the world to teach the mitzvah of Tefillin by participating in the World Wide Wrap.

The Hebrew School children are building Tefillin and will join the Minyan.

Whether you don tefillin every day or whether your old set [the ones you got at your Bar Mitzvah and haven't worn in years] is sitting in the back of your sock drawer, the Wrap has something to offer you. USY, Kadima and the women are invited. Theo Moreines will teach the technique. Make reservations with the temple office by January 31st for instruction. Instruction is at 8:45 am if reservations received. Minyan is at 9:00 am. Reconnect with those Bar Mitzvah tefillin. Have a nice breakfast. Learn more about a ritual practice that has been a part of Jewish life for thousands of years. Come wrap with us on Sunday, February 3, 2013!

to benefit the Kosher Food Pantries of Greater Metrowest
JFS Kosher Pantry in Elizabeth & Bobrow Kosher Pantry of Oheb
Shalom in South Orange

The JFS Kosher Food Pantry in Elizabeth and Bobrow Kosher Food Pantry of Oheb Shalom in South Orange together served an unprecedented number of people this year. On average they are serving 400-500 individuals a month. The pantries have received over 1,000 requests and were served emergency food this past year. With emergency food requests increasing and government funding decreasing, our Kosher Food Pantries need your donations to keep stocked.

The beneficiaries of the Kosher Food Pantry Programs include poor single parents and multi-challenged families, the unemployed, underemployed, the homeless, the isolated and the frail elderly. All recipients have demonstrated financial need.

LOGISTICS:

- Using a list of Pantry requested food items and accepted kosher symbols, participants shop at the ShopRite in Clark between 2:00-4:00pm for as much kosher non-perishable food as they would like to donate.
- Wherever possible, participants will bring the food that they have purchased to be donated to their local Kosher Food Pantry in Elizabeth or South Orange.
- At 4:30pm we will convene at our local Kosher Food Pantry and celebrate our successful day with pizza and refreshments. In addition, contest winner prizes and door prizes will be given.
- Registration fee is $5/team. A team is self-defined – it can be an individual or a group of any size.

THE CONTEST – what makes this fun to do!

- Families, individuals or groups pre-register their “team.” A team consists of any self-identified entity of one or more persons. For example: a family can be a team, a class accompanied by a teacher or a class parent can be a team, an individual who would like to participate on his/her own or with a friend can be a team.
- Teams with the GREATEST PERCENTAGE OF SAVINGS on their purchase can win 1st, 2nd or 3rd prize gift cards to Target. [Savings increase and maximize with the use of coupons and circulars].
- The ORGANIZATION with the greatest representation in teams will win a donation to their library. Organizations are identified during the registration process.
